Philadelphia Call.

Mr. B.—These biscuits remind me of mother's.

Mr. B.—Well, I declare! Have you gone crazy?

Mr. B.—Well, I never expected to hear you say that any of my cooking resembles your mother's. She was a wonderful cook. I have no doubt, for you have said so many times.

Mr. B.—Yes, she certainly was. In fact that was only one dish that she ever failed to cook.

Mr. B.—What was that?

Mrs. B.—Biscuits.

The Returns.

So far that President Arthur is in the lead of all other aspirants for the Republican nomination at the Chicago convention. The New York Herald gave the following:

Arthur	39
Blaine	38
Logan	39
Ward	32
John Sherman	32
Gresham	30
Palmer	26
Gen. Sherman	2
Others	1

The total vote in the convention will be 230, and it will require 411 to nominate. Of the remaining 242 delegates to be sent to the Herald estimates that Arthur will get 110 votes, and that he will go into the convention with a total of 432, or 21 more than a majority. This result will not be surprising, in view of the fact that Mr. Arthur has proved to be the most capable and acceptable President elected by the Republican party.

On the Next Block.

Democrat from Press.

After walking up and down several times past a Gratiot avenue clothing dealer's, yesterday a stranger halted and said to the man at the door:

"Do you remember me, sir?"

"Not at all, exactly, my friend. Who was you?"

"I'm the man who paid you $28 for a suit of bottle-green clothes last October, and inside of a week the moths ate 'em up."

"You don't say so?"

"You bet I do, and I'm here to get satisfaction!"

My friend, you made a dreadful mistake. All the moths in this store will have to be killed for $14. If dot man on next block keeps his in the dotted green suit for $28 dots vials all right. No two men can possibly alike."

After further debate the appropriation was cut down to $150,000. The bill was further amended by striking out the portion upon the number and value of the domestic animals of the United States, and leaving the inquiry confined to their condition. It was agreed to take a vote

CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.

Senate.

The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Interior transmitting a report of an alleged violation of the survey of the Eastern boundary of California.

Mr. Farley presented a petition from manufacturers of California against the pending bill to prohibit the importation of foreign labor. The petition was presented by Mr. Dawes from American artisans, as "intelligent workers of the United States, praying for the passage of the bill to prohibit the entry of Chinese into the Pacific Coast delegation in Congress. "I recognize the right," said Mr. Dawes, "of my constituents to have Chinese, who ever they dream it their duty so do, and I shall present such petitions. But whether I can support such amendments as the Chinese bill, as far as satisfactory to the Chinese, Coast delegation, would depend altogether upon the character of these amendments. While I will be the organ of my constituents to the extent of my power to present such petitions, I withhold my assent to the amendments until I know their character."

A petition was presented by Mr. Ross praying for a fast mail train from New York to Boston.

Mr. Culbert from the Committee on Railroads a substitute for the bills relating to the regulations of later State commissaries.

The bill to consolidate the Bureau of Military Justice and the Corps of Judge Advocates into the Army was passed.

The Foreign pirates' Bill came up as unfinished business. The pending question was the motion of Mr. McPherson to recommit.

Mr. Bayard spoke in favor of recommit.

He said the bill contained direct invasions of the powers belonging to the States.

It was a dangerous extension of the bureau's jurisdiction which was already done so much damage in the country.

Ten Senators voted for and ten again against a motion of division.

The year and ways and means motion was rejected.

Mr. Coke offered an amendment providing that pleumatic or Texas fever shall not be considered a contagious or communicable disease.

This amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Morgan made a long speech against the bill, which he said was designed to flatter a class of men who could see into the future and could not see into the past.

Mr. Beck stated that the bulk of the cattle in the Northwest are owned by foreign corporations. "These people have no interest in the country, and when they have unprofitable stock cattle slaughtered for their pecuniary benefit."

Mr. Morgan said this was a forcible and pertinent suggestion. The influence of the foreign corporations who own the Northwest cattle was well felt in the bill.

Mr. Beck said there were companies with ten millions of capital in England for stock raising in the United States.

They have a real and solid acquaintance," reported Mr. Williams, "with the cattle interests of the country than my cattle.

Mr. Williams denied that the majority of cattle owners were foreigners.

Mr. Williams denied that the majority of cattle owners were foreigners.

Mr. Beck, after listening a while to Mr. Morgan, who agreed in full with the position taken by Mr. Beck, asked for proof of such assertion.

"I will give you the proof," replied Mr. Morgan, "in Republican newspapers like the New York Herald, New York Times, and other Metropolitan journals."

Mr. Morgan moved to strike out the provision which authorizes the payment for cattle slaughtered.

Mr. Beck repeated his statement in regard to the ramifications and power of the foreign corporations and supported the motion to strike out the provision.

Mr. Plumb contended that there is urgent need of the measure. If it were not enacted to the British and other foreign countries, the birds of the great Northwest would be sent abroad from Canadian territory, as Canadian cattle.

Mr. Beck moved to strike out the provision which authorizes the payment for cattle slaughtered.

Mr. Beck repeated his statement in regard to the ramifications and power of the foreign corporations and supported the motion to strike out the provision.

Mr. Wilson said to the Clerk's desk and read a letter recently by him from the Secretary of State.

The communication was to the effect that it had been determined by the British Government to increase the American quota to 1,000,000 cattle.

Her father and mother passed through Mayfield, yesterday, on their way to Jamestown.

A POSTMORTEM examination of the remains of Alex Snetz was made on Tuesday evening by Drs. Strode and Browning, and it was ascertained that the ball which caused death, entered the body about one inch below the upper part of the hip-bone and passed directly backward and downward injuring the small intestines and passing into the left side of the rectum or lower bowel, from which it probably passed out. Death was caused by the injury to the intestines and consequent hemorrhages.
